

British Explode Atomic Weapon Off Australia

Sydney, Australia, (AP)—A British atomic weapon has been exploded in tests at the Monte Bello Islands off Northwest Australia. Defense Minister Philip A. M. McBride announced in Canberra today the test, Britain's first, was a success.

The United States had no part in the test.

A dispatch from Perth, capital of Western Australia, the mainland state nearest the islands where the blast took place, said the explosion was at 8 p. m. today Perth time (7 p. m. EST, Thursday).

The brief, lightning-like flash was followed by an atomic cloud. The cloud had a ragged shape and was wide at the base, according to the description reaching Perth. Sixty seconds after the detonation the cloud reached 6,000 feet, and two minutes later it was at 10,000 feet.

Word of the explosion was flashed in code from the Royal Navy flagship Campania.

Australia's Prime Minister Robert Menzies said the "success of the test is a result of the closest possible co-operative work between Britain and Australia."

The Australian Navy and Air Force since Sept. 1 had maintained a day and night patrol of the Monte Bello area, 85 miles off the Northwest Australian coast.

Between 4,500 and 5,000 men were on ships engaged in the operation.

McBride said five British Royal Navy ships and 11 Australian Navy ships took part in the test. There were two Australian observers on hand.

Some of the secrecy measures surrounding the world's 36th recorded atomic explosion suggested to observers that the British have been engaged in experimenting with tactical atomic weapons, rather than conventional atomic bombs.

The first announcement of the test came from the British Admiralty in London on the authority of Prime Minister Churchill.

The announcement said only that there had been a successful test of an "atomic weapon." No details were given.

Then Supply Minister Duncan Sandys, whose department is in charge of the British atomic energy program, said in London that no further details would be issued until the men in charge got back to London in about two weeks to report.

The two men are W. G. Penney, British scientist in charge of atomic research at the Supply Ministry, and Rear Adm. A. D. Torlesse, who was detached from Korean War duty more than two years ago to take charge of the Monte Bello operation.

Sandys said the next job of the expedition was to assemble all technical records and data and analyze the results of the test.

Britain thus claimed a place as a major atomic power, along with the United States and Russia, after 4½ years of a lone-wolf effort to catch up in the post-war race.

The Admiralty announcement did not say when the test explosion took place. It gave no further details.

The scene was in the barren, coral Monte Bello Islands 85 miles northwest of the small Australian port of Port Onslow.

No one lives there, but Japanese pearl fishermen used the islands before the war.

For weeks 2,000 picked British and Australian servicemen and scientists and at least one Canadian expert have been making arrangements to set off the explosion behind one of the tightest security nets ever enforced by the British. No U. S. observers were present.

The U. S. McMahon Act of 1946 halted the American exchange of atomic secrets with Britain and other foreign powers in order to guard American security.

Since then British has proceeded alone. On Feb. 17, Churchill announced that Britain at length had been able to make an atomic weapon of her own. Elaborate preparations for the test have been going on ever since.

The report refers to traffic which emerges from or enters into Delaware Water Gap; also the problem of traffic between the Pocono area and Philadelphia, particularly as defined by the area from below Bethlehem up through Wind Gap to the Poconos.

The report points out the two problems are of utmost importance and that all points included should receive rapid remedial action. It is set forth that immediate action is possible in some instances, while others must be planned for the future. In the interim, it is added, improvements must be made in the existing routes to remedy hazardous conditions and expedite the flow of traffic.

The recommendations provide for modern highway access to existing principal routes from the new Delaware Water Gap bridge and Route 611 at Delaware Water Gap, and improved secondary routes included within this pattern to provide access to and from the principal routes.

Specific recommendations to assist in the above are:

One—Build modern bridge at Fifth St., Stroudsburg; improve and widen access to this bridge from Main St. and from the bridge through Broad St. to junction of Route 611 at foot of Foxtown Hill.

Two—Continue to widen and improve Route 611 from Delaware Water Gap and Foxtown Hill.

Three—Modernize Route 166 from Delaware Water Gap to East Stroudsburg at point of junction of Routes 290 and 209, eliminating hazardous area at Empire Box Co.

Four—Modernize Route 402 from Delaware Water Gap to junction of Route 209 at Marshfield Creek.

Five—Reduce curve where Route 611 turns into Morningside Ave., Stroudsburg.

Six—Re-route Route 611 from Foxtown Hill through So. Stroudsburg to West Stroudsburg and north to present Route 611, thereby eliminating bottleneck in center of Stroudsburg. (The use of the old roadbed of the Wilkes-Barre and Easton Railroad as right of way for part of this route is suggested.)

The report also includes the following: Provide modern highway access to and from the Pocono area and the Lehigh Valley beginning at Center Valley (junction of Routes 309 and 121) through and/or around Bethlehem to Wind Gap. Widen and modernize Routes 12 and 115 from Wind Gap through Saylorburg to Route 209. Widen and improve Route 209 from junction of Route 12 to Stroudsburg and Route 12 from Snyder'sville to Bartonsville.

One—Eliminate hazardous railroad crossing and Stokes bridge north of Bethlehem on Route 512.

Two—Improve Routes 329 and 987 from Bath to Allentown and eliminate dangerous overpass on Route 987 north of (Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton) airport.

The Board of Governors of the Pocono Mountains Motor Club has approved the report of the club's highway committee, John M. Crandall, chairman, which has been sent to R. E. Boyer, Allentown, district engineer, Pennsylvania Department of Highways. It is an effort to improve traffic conditions and also stimulate highway improvements.

Yanks Win, 7-1, Tie Series

Raschi Hurls Three-Hitter; Martin Homers

Brooklyn (AP)—One-round Billy Martin and Vic Raschi restored the pride of the Yankees yesterday as Brooklyn pitching buckled under a five-run sixth inning to let the New York Yankees square the 1952 World Series with a 7-1 victory in the second game.

Martin, the fiery second baseman who retired as unbeaten middleweight champ of the American League after two spring ball park brawls, singled losing pitcher Carl Erskine and reliever Billy Loes with a tie-breaking single and a three-run homer to drive home four big runs.

Truman Charges Eisenhower Knows Nothing Of Problems Facing Everyday Americans

Aboard the Truman Train, (AP)—President Truman declared last night it would be a disaster to put in the White House a general who knows nothing of the everyday American problems and who campaigned "the dreary road to the past on a down with progress program."

The whistle-stopping President paused at Tacoma, Wash., for the most caustic and detailed attack yet made on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as Republican standard-bearer.

In his best "pour it on" style, Truman described Eisenhower as a man sheltered since boyhood by "total, military social security" from the bread and butter cares and anxieties of bill paying.

Moreover, Truman said, it's a sad thing to see a man who got his chance for military greatness under Democratic administrations "campaigning against a kind of America that he once symbolized before the world."

"This campaign has already demonstrated," the President said, "that a military man should stick to his profession. . . . It would be disastrous to test the truth of the proposition any further by electing him to an office he is not qualified to fill."

Before this prepared speech in Tacoma Armory, the President ran into some heckling in a train-side speech at Wenatchee, Wash., where he said "Old Guard faces surrounding the five-star candidate . . . have got him surrounded so he couldn't do a thing he wanted to if he tried."

An undercurrent of booing mingled with cheers from a crowd estimated by state police as between 4,000 and 5,000.

Apparently irked, the President pointed to the rear of the crowd raised his voice above some cries of "I like Ike," and declared: "Now I see a kid back there who has been paid to carry that 'I like Ike' sign. Well, I like Ike—I like Ike so well that I would send him back to the Army, if I had the chance. And that is what I am trying to do." Truman's seeming disturbance didn't last long.

It was at Tacoma that Truman pulled out the stops in his campaign to block Eisenhower's presidential drive.

'Prosperity' Due To War, Declares Ike

Peoria, Ill. (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower asserted last night that the economy of the United States, for years, has been propped up by "war and the threat of war," and he said a condition of false prosperity exists in the nation today.

Democratic economic planning, he said, has not raised living standards, increased wages, nor abolished unemployment.

On the contrary, the GOP presidential candidate told an audience at Peoria's Bradley University:

"War, not the Fair Deal, brought about the end to unemployment. The legacy of war, not the Fair Deal, helped to sustain a high level of economic activity."

Eisenhower said the Democrats, using their slogan "You never had it so good," are attempting to take credit for improvements in living standards. But he said:

"The blunt fact is that the only improvement achieved in these 20 Democratic years was during the five-year period of World War II."

The general said economic policies based on opportunities under peace, not war, must be devised.

"My goal," he declared, "assuming that the cold war gets no worse, is to cut federal spending to something like 60 billion dollars within four years. Such a cut would eliminate the deficit in the budget, and would make way for substantial tax reduction."

He told his audiences at several points that the time has come for South Korean troops to take over the main burden of the fighting in Korea. It makes "no sense," he said for American soldiers to be doing most of the fighting there.

And he said the record of the Democratic administration in foreign affairs has been a series of failures that led to two world wars, the cold war, and finally Korea.

At Bradley, he gave his answer—in one of his strongest speeches—to the analysis of American economy made in Baltimore last week by Gov. Adlai Stevenson, his Democratic presidential opponent.

Eisenhower said his economic policies would rest on three main principles:

One—To provide a sound dollar, he said, is government's primary responsibility.

Two—To cut federal spending to "something like 60 billion dollars within four years." This, he said, will restore the incentive to expand production.

Three—"We will give positive support and encouragement to new industry development. We shall encourage venture capital investments at home and abroad. We shall support a foreign economic policy that encourages growth throughout the free world."

Stalin Looks For War Among Various Capitalist Nations

Moscow, (AP)—Joseph Stalin, in a long message to Communists published yesterday, pictures war as inevitable among the capitalist countries. He asserts one has to believe in miracles to think Japan and Germany will not "break out of American slavery" and rise anew in an effort to smash the United States.

Cheju Riot Part Of Mass Break Plot

Cheju Island, Korea, (AP)—A riot Wednesday in which 56 prisoners died was to have been the trigger for a mass break by 5,884 tough Chinese Red Prisoners, U. S. officials said yesterday.

U. S. infantry moved in so swiftly on an orderly 500 rioting prisoners in one compound that Chinese Communists in nearby compounds called the whole thing off and even hauled down their defiant flags, officers reported.

American authorities got wind of the escape plot in August and were able to move quickly when the decisive hour arrived.

Eighty U. S. infantrymen stormed into a compound of rioting Reds and fatally shot or bayoneted 56 and wounded at least 100 others in a bloody, 15-minute battle. Two U. S. soldiers were injured slightly.

Major Gen. Thomas W. Haren, commander of the Korean Communications zone, told correspondents yesterday that 5,884 Reds in 10 compounds had planned to use the riot—in Compound Seven—as a signal for a mass break.

Col. Richard D. Boerem said prisoners learned Aug. 24 that the Reds planned a mass escape for Oct. 1, third anniversary of the founding of the Communist Chinese government.

OPS Raises Anthracite 20c Per Ton

Washington, (AP)—The government granted the Pennsylvania anthracite industry a 20 cents a ton increase in hard coal retail prices yesterday to compensate for the recent 20-cent boost given by the industry to the miners' welfare fund.

The increase came as a bargaining session between the mine owners and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers union, recessed indefinitely.

The 20-cent increase in the owner-paid royalty on anthracite production, raising it to 50 cents a ton, only partly completed the task of negotiating a new contract and the industry and union are now talking over new wage rates and other contract matters.

The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) said in granting permission for the royalty boost to be passed on to consumers that the agency would consider an application later on for a further price boost, if the industry claimed an impaired earnings position.

This apparently left the way open for seeking new price ceiling increases after new pay rates and other contract change costs are determined in the course of completing the contract negotiations.

The OPS warned that retail dealers could apply the 20 cents a ton retail price increase only on hard coal on which the higher royalty payments have been paid. In other words, it was explained, the higher price ceilings is not to apply on anthracite produced on the previous 30 cent a ton royalty basis.

These are examples given by the OPS of retail ceiling increases under the 20 cent a ton adjustment: Broken sizes, price ceiling raised from $14.20 per net ton to $14.40; stove size $14.70 to $14.90, and chestnut size $14.60 to $14.80.

OPS Raises Anthracite 20c Per Ton

Washington, (AP)—Atty. Gen. McGranery said yesterday the Justice Department is rounding up some 100 underworld big shots and other undesirable characters with the aim of deporting them from the United States.

McGranery announced the drive at a news conference and said proceedings were started against half a dozen reputed racketeers in the last week.

In cases involving naturalized Americans, McGranery said, the first step will be to strip them of their citizenship.

The campaign, he said, is directed primarily against aliens and naturalized Americans who have been engaged in organized crime. But it is also intended to rid the country of other persons regarded by the Justice Department as objectionable.

McGranery said the second category included alien Communists, Communists who may have obtained citizenship illegally, and "unsavory characters who have continued to be aliens technically as well as in the broader sense."

Salvation Army Gives Lift To Those Less Fortunate

By Leonard Randolph

One definition for the term "salvation" in Webster's unabridged dictionary is this:

"Rescue from destruction."

Under normal circumstances few Americans feel that they or their families are in danger of actual "destruction."

There is a sense of security in most homes which may lead adult citizens to believe that all other houses are as well organized and maintained.

This sense of security ignores one of the most important factors in community living—that some families (and in a few cases, many families) do not live under normal conditions.

Subjected to the subnormal life which they must lead, a good-sized percentage of the children in most towns are forced to grow up with "two strikes against them from the start" as the old saying goes.

One of the major agencies which attempts to give the child with fewer advantages a "break" is the Salvation Army—an organization devoted to the betterment of those persons not ordinarily reached by churches.

In Monroe County, the Salvation Army is one of ten member agencies which receive annual allotments from the Community Chest fund.

How does the Salvation Army work? What kind of person does it reach? And what good does it do?

For residents who have seen the local unit in action there is no necessity to answer these questions.

It is for those who have not seen first-hand the work of the Salvation Army in its classrooms and on its projects that this article is written.

Louise stood in the middle of the kitchen floor and stared disconsolately at the unmatched patching of the linoleum.

She had just told her mother she had been sent home from school, and handed her the note signed by the principal which said Louise needed more home training and that maybe she would be ready for entrance next year.

There was no doubt about it. She needed more training in little things—mostly behaviors and learning the correct way to do things. And she was young.

Her mother touched the prematurely gray temple and closed her eyes tight for a second. She needed time to think.

From the next room the baby's three-month-old voice rose in a shrill, climbing wail.

Timber Film Presented At Club Meeting

The lumberman has become a tree farmer and these modern day Paul Bunyans think of timber as a crop which creates some 4,000 different products.

That was the general theme of a technicolor movie shown at the Stroudsburg Rotary Club yesterday by Ted Hoffman as a classification presentation. Hoffman is associated with East Stroudsburg Lumber Co.

Wood as the number one builder was emphasized throughout the movie created by the Weyerhaeuser Wood Products Co., Inc. All facets of trees as a crop were shown from uses of wood to reforestation. The story of the growth of this nation from east to west was woven in the movie story.

Enemies of trees—insects, fires and other destroying agents—together with steps taken to combat these destructive forces showed the difficulties involved in the long cycles required to grow a tree crop.

Volunteers Outline Programs For Fire Prevention Week

Companies Urge Public Participation

Fire Prevention Week starts Monday.

Volunteers throughout Monroe County will spend much of their time from Monday to Friday showing fellow residents how to keep from getting killed or injured in fires and how to prevent property damage by fire.

The volunteers, all of whom serve without pay in Monroe County, are dedicated to a campaign of education.

They will show residents what starts fires, what are the danger spots in home, school and factory, how to prevent fires, what to do if one is found, proper ways to fight fires.

Throughout the week, residents are invited to call up or call on the closest fire company with any problem relating to fire or fire prevention. A fireman will take the call and give the help needed.

What kind of home extinguisher should you buy? What size safety fuse should you use? Where's a good place to store your paint and varnish? Call up your fire company next week and ask.

Another service volunteers will perform is to circulate and make unannounced calls at local schools, where fire drills will be sounded.

Typical of the plans of fire companies throughout the county are those of the Acme Hose Co., East Stroudsburg.

They plan to have industries fill out inspection blanks, and business places fill out questionnaires brought by Boy Scouts. Residents will be asked to fill out questionnaires delivered to their homes by Scouts.

At 7 p.m. Tuesday the company will turn out to battle demonstration oil fires at the Day St. grounds in East Stroudsburg, opposite the playground. The public is invited.

At 6 p.m. Wednesday children are invited to an open house held specially for them. Movies will be shown and souvenirs given out. Posters made by the children for fire prevention week will be on display.

Thursday night will be open house for the adult public, with fire hose equipment on inspection and volunteers present to answer questions. The ladies' auxiliary will serve refreshments and put on a demonstration of the company's respirator. This portable "iron lung" was bought with funds donated by Monroe County residents.

Friday night the volunteers will be on hand to answer questions and to make any inspections requested by borough residents between 7 and 9 p.m.

Kleinle Plans Proclamation

The kick-off for Fire Prevention Week in East Stroudsburg will be a proclamation by Burgess Leroy J. Kleinle, Sunday afternoon.

He will say, in part: "National fire prevention week, opening today and concluding next Sunday, again occurs on the anniversary of the great Chicago fire—the eighty-first—and is intended to focus the attention of every citizen on fire prevention.

"Whereas, the East Stroudsburg fire department has created an extensive, coordinated plan to impress on the minds of all the people the need for fire prevention every week of the year, not just one of the 52, and...

"Whereas, we can start fire prevention work in our homes, factories and businesses under the guidance of these volunteer firemen, and...

"Whereas, any such efforts may eliminate the necessity for great economic loss in property and lives. Now, therefore, as burgess of East Stroudsburg, I urge all the citizens of our borough to cooperate fully with our fire department in this important national observance in the most practical way.

Fire Damages Jewelry Store

Harrisburg (AP) — A 15-minute fire burned out a jewelry store and forced about 150 workers from an office building at one of Harrisburg's busiest street intersections yesterday.

The fire ruined the Morris Jewelry store, on the ground floor of the five-story Dergner Building at Third and Market Sts.

An employee of the store estimated damages at $350,000.

Earl Swartz, fire chief, said he believed the blaze was started in the cellar. A welder told authori-

LT. COL. RICHARD A. DANA, Division G-3, shows the positions of various units of the 28th Infantry Division to Maj. Gen. Daniel Strickler, division commander, during Exercise North Wind in Southern Germany.

28th Division 35 Years Old This Month; Local Veterans Members Of Original Unit

Today, the 28th Infantry Division, Pennsylvania's "Bloody Bucket" Division of World War One and Two fame, proudly looks back on 35 years of colorful federal and state service.

No one who has served anywhere in the entire division is any more proud of this 35 years than the local veterans who were members of the original unit when it was organized on Oct. 17, 1917 as the 28th

Division. The division has a record of outstanding service in peace and war with few parallels.

Company G, 109th Infantry, 28th Division, Pennsylvania National Guard, actually came into being as Company G, a part of "the old 13th" Pennsylvania National Guard, in 1913.

On Aug. 12, 1916 the local company moved to Texas and spread along the Mexican border to handle the annoyance raised by one Francisco (Pancho) Villa, Mexican revolutionary general.

Having disposed of this little matter with other units of the old 13th, Company G was heading home—in fact the men were in Mobile, Ala.—when World War One broke out and they were automatically federalized.

Then came the creation of the 28th Division. The old 13th was merged with the First Philadelphia troops and the local company became part of the new 109th of the 28th Division.

Local troops were moved to Georgia for training and there the formal organization of the 28th took place on Oct. 17, 1917. During the interim the local troops were guards on bridges in this region.

During May, 1918 Company G and other units of the 28th went to France to do battle in World War One. They returned in June, 1919.

Now under the command of Maj. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, it has a big job in Europe, as part of the NATO Army. With morale running high, and the unit at peak strength, the 28th is ready and able to resist any act of aggression.

Although officially organized in 1917, the division made an honored name for itself as part of the Pennsylvania militia long before the First Continental Congress.

From 1676 to 1682, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania enacted laws which provided that all men between the ages of 16 and 60 years, were required to have firearms, and were responsible for the firing condition of these weapons.

When hostilities broke out between France and England in 1744, Pennsylvania furnished 10,000 volunteers. The soldiers were equipped at their own expense and were offered by men of their choice.

In 1747 a body of prominent Philadelphians under the leadership of Benjamin Franklin, formed an organization known as the "Associators," and by means of a paper published by Franklin, "The Plain Truth," aroused much military feeling among the populace.

No-Parking Zones On Eighth, Ann

Two new "no-parking" areas have been designated by Stroudsburg Council—one dictated by fire protection purposes and the other to facilitate general traffic and movement of fire trucks.

Largest of the two no-parking sectors ranges all along the west side of N. Eighth St. from Monroe St. to Fulmer Ave.

The other no-parking area extends along the south side of Ann St. from Fifth St. bridge to a point several yards west of the gate house leading to the old raceway.

Officers and members of the Stroudsburg fire department asked for the Ann St. no-parking area because the existing standpipe from which water for fire fighting was drawn from the race can no longer provide sufficient water.

New site for drawing water is over the stream bank near the old gate house. Non-parking is required to permit fire trucks to stop there at any and all times.

There is already a no-parking zone between Main and Monroe Sts. on North Eighth. Narrowness of the street from that point north to Fulmer Ave. and almost continuous parking on both sides of the street has produced a large number of complaints.

The State Highway Department's improvement of Phillips St. has produced a greater volume of traffic on North Eighth, police said.

Both no-parking sectors will be enforced as soon as legal signs are obtained and erected.

Ike Committee Doubts It Can Raise 2 Millions

New York (AP) — A Citizens for Eisenhower Committee official said yesterday the group is "trying to raise as much money as we can" for a last-minute radio and television campaign for the GOP candidate.

Walter Williams, co-chairman of the national organization, said it "doesn't have any hopes of obtaining the two million dollars originally recommended for the project."

"How much we actually will spend depends, of course, on what money we are able to raise for this vital purpose," Williams said.

And, he added: "Thanks to the Stevenson camp's claimed 'expose' of an erroneously labeled 'secret plan' we now are getting more donations."

Wednesday in Springfield, Ill., Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson's Democratic presidential campaign headquarters referred to the plan as a "super-colossal, multi-million-dollar" program of spot radio and TV announcements.

Six Escape As Airplane Burns

York (AP) — A two-engine Deltaville airplane went up in flames at York Airport yesterday less than a minute after the pilot and five passengers made their way to safety.

Charles Frew Jr., York, piloting the $80,000 plane for the Campbell Chain Co., turned around and made an emergency landing when he saw one motor stall just after his takeoff.

Civil Aeronautics Administration authorities closed the airport temporarily and began an investigation into why the motor had stalled.

William Ransome Gail Baker is said to be the only man to have a television station named for him. It's station WRGB at Schenectady, N. Y.

Service Personnel Need Not Be Registered To Cast Vote In November General Election

Of all Pennsylvanians, those in active military service probably have to go through the least red tape to cast a ballot.

A soldier doesn't have to be registered to vote. A relative or friend can have a military ballot sent to him by supplying certain information to the registration clerks at the court house. Or, the soldier himself can handle matters by writing to the county board of elections.

He can get a military ballot any time prior to the election.

If the soldier is in Pennsylvania on election day, he can vote—whether he's registered or not—by walking into any polling place and making an affidavit of his military status. Then he is given a ballot, which he votes.

There are certain "freak" circumstances which would make it impossible for an individual to vote even though he fitted all the qualifications:

This could happen with the case of an ex-soldier.

But he would be a veteran who left his home voting district before he was old enough to register; who never was home on pass or on furlough while registration was being carried out; and who was separated from service on or after Sept. 13, when registration closed in Pennsylvania.

In Pennsylvania there is no absentee voting by civilians. If a civilian is not in his home election district on election day, there is no way he can cast his ballot.

Parking Meter Receipts Up

Parking meter receipts in the borough of Stroudsburg during the month of September showed a $116.37 gain over September a year ago, a report submitted to council by Secretary Harold E. Snyder discloses.

Total collections last month were $2,255.81 compared to $2,139.44 a year ago.

Another gain was registered for the calendar year ending with September 30. Collections for that period were $21,363.77 compared with $20,488.39 for the same period a year ago.

Total collections for the 12 months ending with October 1 were $275,828.28 compared to $269,245.44 for the previous 12 months.

Color TV Far Off

New York (AP) — Ross D. Siragusa, president of the Admiral Corp., estimated yesterday it would be at least two and possibly four years before color television sets will be on the market in any quantity.

$5,604,407 In Taxes Owed By Racketeers

Washington (AP) — A federal investigation shows at least $5,604,407 due from Pennsylvania racketeers in back income taxes and penalties.

The Internal Revenue Bureau disclosed the figures.

More than 1,200 agents have been assigned to special racket squads throughout the country to try to extract every dollar possible in taxes on illegal income.

James Guthrie, acting chief of the racket squads, said investigation of 1,101 cases in Pennsylvania during the year ended last June 30 resulted in additional tax assessments and penalties being recommended against 728 persons. Agents reported the others apparently had filed correct returns. No names were given.

The investigators recommended prosecution in 18 cases.

Washington (AP) — A force of 2,300 modern day "revenuers" combating the underworld for unpaid tax money has come up with claims for nearly 160 million dollars in the first 16 months it operated.

Tax agents who began the drive on the tax-shy segment of the population that makes its living illegally in April 1951, have found 11,744 cases in which they recommended additional tax and penalty assessments.

Four Students Win Cash Prizes In Essay Contest For Pennsylvania Week

Four students in Monroe County schools have been awarded prizes aggregating $35 and an additional four pupils have been cited for their entries in an essay contest sponsored by the Monroe County Manufacturers Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Retailers Association.

First prize of $12.50 was claimed by John Eaton, East Stroudsburg High School. The other three top awards went to Michael Sharlot, Stroudsburg High School, $10; Myrtle Banner, Chestnut Hill Township High School, $7.50 and Nelson Syce, Coaling Township High School, $5.

Names of the next four who placed were not available, according to Miss Marian Lark, Monroe County home economics education adviser. But the students were from Barrett Township, Penna. Township, she said. All eight winners will compete for state honors. Miss Lark said, with the grand award of $500 defense bond slated for presentation during Pennsylvania Week, Oct. 12-19. Nine other winners will receive lesser awards. Last year Patricia Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Miller, of East Stroudsburg, won an award.

Monroe County Manufacturers Association, headed by H. G. Sanborn, sponsored the local awards. The "Know-Your-Pennsylvania" contest was on the subject "How Pennsylvania's Schools are Helping to Defend Freedom." The State Department of Commerce, in cooperation with the State Department of Public Instruction supervised the test which created interest in each of Monroe schools.

Winning essays were sent to John C. Little, county superintendent of schools, who acted as chairman of the contest. Dr. T. Edward Terrill, head of the English department at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, acted as judge.

The contest on a local level was instituted by the Monroe County Manufacturers Association several years ago when J. H. Gruner served as president.

Dr. Frank Halstead will be out of town from Saturday, September 27th through Monday, October 6th. —Adv.

Biggs Restaurant Celebrates 30th Anniversary Tomorrow

By James B. Gaffney

Thirty years ago tomorrow Mr. and Mrs. George Biggs opened the front room of their home at 746 Main St., Stroudsburg, and exploited their home-cooking and congeniality to the populace of the area. Today Biggs Restaurant is recognized as one of the outstanding stopping points in Monroe County and employs 17 persons when business is at its pinnacle, during the summer months.

But the record of 30 years was not attained without arduous work. Mr. and Mrs. Biggs decided on enlarging their restaurant one year after opening, and occupied the entire first floor of the residence. It was the first restaurant to open on Main St.

With seven daughters available for assistance, Mr. and Mrs. Biggs continued to serve the public. When Mr. Biggs died his wife and son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse James, formed the partnership that exists today. The entire family helps on occasions though, giving the services of six extra girls.

Biggs Restaurant also holds the distinction of being the only restaurant represented by the Wellcome Wagon in this section. Operating from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. six days a week and from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. Mondays, the restaurant specializes Sunday dinners.

Alfred C. Reisenwitz has joined the advertising staff of radio station WYFO, according to an announcement by Elton Hall, manager.

Reisenwitz graduated from Portland High School in 1937 and after working for the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, enlisted in the U.S. Army. After three and a half years of duty, most of it in Africa and Italy, Reisenwitz was wounded in the Italian campaign and hospitalized for 18 months. After discharge in Feb., 1945 he returned to this section and worked as a guard at a defense plant in Oxford, N.J. Later he attended Churchman's Business College, Easton, graduating in 1947 and then became office manager for Woodlets, Inc., a Portland firm.

Until last month Reisenwitz was employed by Ray Price Motors in Stroudsburg. His new position as a salesman assigns him to the Slate Belt area and part of New Jersey. Reisenwitz was installed recently as commander of the American Legion, East Stroudsburg. He also holds membership in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post, Stroudsburg. Mr. and Mrs. Reisenwitz and daughter, reside at 1803 W. Main St., Stroudsburg.

Recognition for her outstanding advertising promotion in limiting her space, and gaining an effective style with her signature, was given Mrs. Geraldine Hertz, proprietor of Jere's a woman's dress shop at 764 Main St., Stroudsburg. Citation occurred in an article appearing in Women's Wear Daily, one of the leading national publications for retail merchants.

The article, one column in length, lauded Mrs. Hertz for her unusual type of advertising. Mrs. Hertz varies her format with fashion sketches and utilized white space to attract the potential customer's attention. The signature "Jere" is a replica of her own handwriting.

Mrs. Hertz opened her shop here five years ago this month. A novel twist to her entrance into the selling field is the fact that she is a musician by original choice, but found her natural field in selling when she went with the former Murray Store at the corner of Sixth and Main Sts. in Stroudsburg. Moving to Stroudsburg in 1941 from Bloomsburg, she left behind her experience as a member of the summer faculty at Penn State, where she taught music, and previous education at colleges in Bloomsburg, Penn State and Maryland, majoring in voice at all times.

Herb Zubow, proprietor of Herb's Men's Shop, a specialty store at 619 Main St., Stroudsburg catering to the vogue in wearing apparel for men, has secured the services of a female saleswoman to further his promotion.

Mrs. Martin (Ann) Likewise Jr., formerly with Saks of New York, currently is residing in Stroudsburg. She moved to this section a year ago and lived at Cherry Lane. Zubow emphasized that with a woman handling sales a dual purpose will be served: aiding women shoppers select apparel for their menfolk and assisting men to purchase clothing that appeals to women. Zubow opened the store here March 28.

Steel alloyed with the metal columbium is now considered the best metal to resist high heat in jet engines.

HAVING SOME REEL FUN

"PUT THE FRYING PAN ON, mother. We'll have fish for supper." That's what thousands of youngsters are saying before they leave the house to compete in "Kids' Fish Days," contests sponsored by youth organizations across the nation. State conservation commissions stock city ponds with bullheads and other fish a few days before the big contest. Then the kids, with their makeshift fishing poles, lunches and dogs, race for best spots on the shoreline or take a rubber raft into the lake. At noon, the final whistle blows and the youngsters compare catches for prizes. Here are scenes from Des Moines, Ia., fish contest.

While some of the boys fish from the grassy shoreline, others row out in the lake on raft.

Even a dog stops to look at carp caught by this young miss. Contest over, he goes home.

Commissioners Survey County Employees To Learn If They Want Social Security Coverage

A survey of county employees is under way to determine if they want to join the Federal Old Age Insurance program (Social Security).

The county would pay in one and a half per cent of the employee's salary, and the employee would put up the same amount himself.

Cost to the county, according to Chief Clerk Harry Taylor, would be in the neighborhood of $800 a year.

Covered by the program would be such employees as elected and appointed officials of the county who are paid on a salaried basis; sheriff and sheriff's deputies, as well as all jail employees, county home employees, janitors, some court personnel holding full-time jobs.

Exceptions are the three fee offices and employees working in them. These are the prothonotary's office, treasurer's office and recorder's office.

In these offices, the officials are paid fees for services performed, and the officials in turn hire their own assistants and personnel.

However, fee office employees may also join the program if the officer—treasurer, prothonotary or recorder—is willing to pay in one and a half per cent of the employee's salary.

Taylor said the program, if installed, will not be on a piecemeal basis, with some joining and some not. The survey being carried on at present is to determine how many want to join the program, and when they think the initial date should be. The date may be retroactive to January, 1951, but no earlier. If this date were picked, cost to the county would be around $1,500.

GS Calendars Launched At Council Meet

The opening of the 1953 National Girl Scout calendar sale in the county was the principal topic at the Fall meeting of the Girl Scout Council of Monroe County held last night at the home of Mrs. Harold C. Edwards, Club Court.

Mrs. Sonia James, a resident of Stroudsburg and a member of the National Girl Scout organization, who was responsible for the calendars in which many local Scouts are pictured presented the calendars to the leaders, and explained the plans for the opening sale on Saturday morning.

Girl Scouts, Brownies and Intermediates, will be stationed at the two banks in each town at Muncie's in East Stroudsburg and Wyckoff's in Stroudsburg beginning at 10 a.m. with the calendars for public sale. Adult leaders will supervise the girls.

Mrs. Harold C. Edwards presided at the meeting when committee reports were given. Dr. Madelon Powers, Juliette Low chairman, asked that the troop leaders send to her the names of their representatives on the Juliette Low council as soon as possible.

Mrs. LeRoy Koehler reported as chairman of the house committee, and also reported at the sectional Girl Scout meeting which she and Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Camille Harvey attended in Wilkes-Barre yesterday. Horace Westbrook gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Roger Acker, training chairman, read the list of leaders who had taken training courses during the past year.

Camille Harvey, executive director, compiled a list of the troops ready to help in the coming Tuberculosis Society Christmas seal campaign.

Mrs. Harlan Bard, president of the Leader's Association was program chairman, and introduced Mrs. William Miller, camp chairman.

Mrs. Miller reported that with the $143 raised at the cake sale and the gifts of the Leaders Association and others in the community, that Camp Lloyd Treble, built this year on Mosier's Knob, was now almost completely paid for with the exception of $107.81.

Mrs. Wendell Wicks outlined the plans for the formal camp dedication during Girl Scout Week.

At a brief meeting of the Leaders Association following the council meeting, officers were elected with Mrs. Ruth Heller, president; Mrs. Ruth Owens, vice president; Mrs. Arthur Scharf, secretary; and Mrs. Mildred Munson, treasurer.

Mrs. Arthur Krome Is Honored At Birthday Party

Gilbert — Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Krome entertained at their home on Saturday night in celebration of Mrs. Krome's birthday.

The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. George Shoenberger, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schaffer, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Reisinger, Miss Shirley Reisinger, and Billy Reisinger, all of Allentown; Mrs. Richard Payne, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. George Shoenberger, New Bern, N.C.; Dr. and Mrs. Vincent Roper and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Zimmerman of Lehigh.

The Girl Scout Council meeting got started around yesterday, as hectic as the leaves in yesterday's hurricane, but somehow they all ended up right side up and smiling at Kathryn Edwards' house last night.

In fact, Janet Richards in full uniform, complete with hat, might have gone in competition with the Girl Scout pin-up girls in the calendars which Sonia James unveiled for the Scout executives.

They are the nicest group of women. Well, one of the nicest, anyway. Though we certainly have a lot of nice women around here. And a lot of them will be meeting next week.

Campaign issues and luncheons, open houses and covered dish suppers, all mixed up in a grand shoving, though really I doubt if it will be as confusing as that hour after school yesterday afternoon.

The heavens would open just as school let out, and I was glad enough to be handy as a haven for stranded students. The trouble was that they all breathed so.

The tumbling leaves, the pelting rain, flashing sky and whirling wind would have been confusing enough. Even worse was all that breathing that steamed up the windows like a glass coffee pot getting ready to boil.

If anybody got the wrong daughter delivered to her house, she can blame it on the unseasonable weather. Thunderstorms in October!

It's perfectly all right to ream orange juice at dinner time, cover it tightly and store it in the refrigerator; it will still be full of vitamins when you serve it at breakfast the next morning. To save time, cereal may also be cooked at dinner time and reheated for breakfast the next morning.

Here's a delicious luncheon menu to serve when guests are expected: Creamed turkey on toast triangles with spiced peaches; tossed green salad; ginger-snap apple betty; tea or coffee.

I have always believed that the most important lesson anyone learns at school is the sum total of his own ignorance. It is easy to drift along contentedly year after year, accepting ourselves as reasonably bright. But when we go somewhere to take a course, we come smack up against so many facts, statistics and common sense deductions, we are overwhelmed by the vast horizon we never even penetrated before.

That's how it has been ever since last Monday when, together with many of my colleagues, I began attending the merchandising workshop being conducted here by Arthur Einstein of Pennsylvania State College.

Mr. Einstein has the quick, analytical mind that can penetrate a situation in an instant, and tell you not only where the faults lie, but why they exist. This is an amazing feat when considered by someone who can see an overall picture, realize there are aggravating details here and there, but fail to ascertain why.

It is a source of deep regret to me that I did not comprehend, as a graduate of seventeen, the fascination of retailing. If more of our boys and girls could even guess at the opportunities that are offered in this line, I am positive they would storm the nation's stores in hordes, asking only for a chance to begin clerking. For it is, after all, the salesman behind the counter who has the best opportunity to study you, the customer, and learn to understand your needs, demands, and potential buying power. The salesman who learns that lesson, is ready to go higher on a ladder that can be increasingly interesting and remunerative.

Sometimes it is an excellent thing to have someone, who can look at you objectively, step into your office and tell you just what you are doing well, and where you are falling down. In times like that, you rock right back in your swivel chair and wonder how on earth you lived so long without discovering it yourself. And then, because you are sincere about filling your obligations to your employer and the people he serves, you begin doing things in a snappier, better way. It is good, you realize, to be part of an organization like Wyckoff's, geared to progressive change.

To our customers, we can only say, "Keep your eye on us. There'll be some changes made." Changes for the better, naturally—because we're determined to remain your favorite shopping center.

Salvation Army Gives Lift To Persons Less Fortunate

As she walked from the kitchen to the tightly-packed living room, Louise's mother decided to go and have a talk with Major May Adam at the Salvation Army headquarters on N. Courtland St.

Major Adam had offered to help before with the training of the children. Perhaps she would now.

Shortly after the interview, Louise began attending special training classes at the Salvation Army building.

Since she had come from a large family—four boys and three girls, including the baby—Louise had never received the right amount of training in discipline.

It was on matters of conduct, therefore, that Major Adam and her co-workers concentrated in the beginning.

One of the first things Louise learned was to sit still and pay attention in the classroom. From this point on, the indoctrination was still uphill—but the slant was considerably less steep.

The training classes were Louise's first contact with the Salvation Army. They were not, by any means, her last.

When she was seven years old she entered the "Sunbeams", here, in small classes, she was taught handicrafts and preliminary homemaking.

In the Sunbeam class to which she was assigned, Louise became interested in Sunday School from hearing other, older girls talking about it. She began attending the Sunday services in the building chapel.

Along with matters of personal, physical cleanliness, Louise began to learn the processes of spiritual and mental health.

Her interest in the activities sponsored by the Army grew with each contact. She began learning to play musical instruments and to sing with the groups to which she belonged.

Throughout all of the training, Louise was reminded constantly that she was working with others from her own community—many of whom were no less "underprivileged" than she.

At the age of 11 years, Louise became a member of the Girl Guards.

She remained with the organization until she was 17 years old.

During the time spent with classes and other groups, Louise had learned details of homemaking she would not otherwise have been able to receive.

As a direct result of her training with the Salvation Army, she was better able to accept the small responsibilities within her own portion of the community.

The story told above is based on typical cases in the Salvation Army records.

"Louise" does not exist as one person. She is a composite of the hundreds of young girls whose lives have been directly affected by the Army's workers.

During the annual Community Chest campaign which is now under way in some divisions, funds are solicited for the Salvation Army and nine other all-important organizations whose work on behalf of the community are legitimate investments for all Monroe county residents.

Through constant effort, Major May Adam, Lt. Dorothy Spencer and other Army workers, attempt to "preserve from destruction" the community itself.

Whether this destruction is from outside sources or self-inflicted is completely unimportant. The energies of the community must be directed against the fight to destroy any or all of its elements.

The Community Chest has been referred to, editorially, in The Daily Record as a form of insurance for taxpayers.

This is certainly true in the case of those funds used by and for the Salvation Army.

In practical insurance, a house may be insured against loss by fire or water or similar forms of natural destruction.

Through an investment in the Community Chest agencies this year and every year you—the taxpayer—may insure the house of your community against destruction by the termites of economic privation, ignorance, fear and spiritual hunger.

Every home is a part of the foundation upon which your life is built.

Termites are not respecters of property.

Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg Face Tough Grid Foes Today

Mountaineers Play Host To Palmerton

Stroudsburg High, fresh from a 20-7 licking at the hands of Emmaus last Saturday, will attempt to regain its winning form at Gordon Giffels field today, when the Mountaineers play host to Palmerton High. The kickoff is scheduled to take place at 8 p.m.

Karl Weingartner, sparkling quarterback, has shown signs of recovering from a painful knee injury, but the hustling back will be on the sidelines for most of tonight's contest, although he may take part in one or two plays during the contest.

However, Paul "Doc" Lim will open at the quarterback post, while Don Garavanti and Bill "Mighty Moe" Morman handle the left and right halfback posts respectively. Bill Bailey, who will be acting captain for the contest, will run out of the fullback post.

Last Saturday's shoulder injury to Benny Miller forced a change in Stroudsburg's offensive line.

Forward Wall

The Mountaineers, who worked hard all week on the practice field, were confined indoors yesterday, when a downpour of rain covered the area just as the drill session was slated to get underway.

However, Stulgaitis put his charges through a blackboard drill and the entire squad looked at pictures of last year's contest, won by Palmerton, 13-0.

Stroudsburg opened the present campaign with a 32-6 verdict over Lehigh and then followed with a 7-6 nod over Bangor. However, on their first trip to foreign soil, the Mountaineers went down to defeat.

Both gates at Giffels field will be used for admission tonight.

Burrows In Line For Pos.

Wind Gap—Ralph O. Burrows, principal of East Stroudsburg High school, was nominated and endorsed by the Lehigh-Northampton League as its candidate for the District 11 PIAA Board of Control during a circuit meeting here at the Wind Gap Diner last night.

The nomination of Burrows to the important office highlighted the program of business, which was directed by Dave Thomas, athletic director at Bangor High and president of the league.

Rulings
It was decided by the group to open league action in basketball on Friday, December 12. It was also ruled that no varsity player may be on the basketball court prior to the junior varsity contest or between halves of the same game.

The league also adopted a seven-inning baseball game, instead of nine as played in recent years.

Jack Kist, head football coach, and his assistants, Dick Forster and Del Davis were also present at the meeting, as was Lewis Hattie, faculty athletic manager at East Stroudsburg High. Forster is also head basketball mentor at the N. Courtland St. school.

Dodgers To Change Lineup

New York, (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers lineup will be changed today when the New York Yankees toss southpaw Eddie Lopat at the National League champions.

Carl Furillo, who went hitless in the first two games, will move up from eighth place to the lead-off position. Billy Cox, also hitless in both games, will drop from the leadoff spot to eighth.

Advancements
Roy Campanella will move up from fifth to the clean-up spot and Jackie Robinson from fourth to third.

The Brooks' probable lineup for the third game: Furillo, rf; Reese, ss; Robinson, 2b; Campanella, c; Paffko, lf; Hodges, 1b; Snider, cf; Cox, 3b and Roe p.

Casey Stengel hasn't announced his starting lineup and it is doubtful if he'll decide until shortly before game time. The Yankee manager already has used over 100 different lineups this season.

Four Matches Listed
Four matches are listed for the Twin-Boro Ladies' League today, at 7 p. m., at the Pocono Bowling Center. Schedule follows:

Yanks Square World Series

Many of the 33,792 fans left the park early for the comfort of their homes or nearby watering spots while Raschi mastered their heroes.

For five innings it was a tense ball game, as tight as yesterday's duel between Joe Black and Allie Reynolds. Suddenly the Yanks exploded in the sixth to turn their 2-1 lead into a lopsided 7-1 rout.

Erskine, wobbling because of poor control, got his lumps in the sixth. This time there was no brilliant Dodger defense to save him.

First baseman Gil Hodges floundered on two key plays that paved the way for Martin's home run puke into the lower left field seats.

But before Hodges messed up matters, Erskine was in the showers, leaving a no-out, bases-loaded situation for the 27-year-old Loes.

Mickey Mantle's bunt single, his second of three hits for a .536 series average, started Erskine on the way out in the big inning. Gene Woodling's shotgun single to right center kept it going.

When Yogi Berra walked on a 3-2 pitch to fill 'em up, Erskine was derelict for Loes.

Loes made Joe Collins rap a double play bounce to Jackie

Robinson who tagged Berra in the baseline. But Hodges let Robinson's easy throw squirm out of his glove for a costly error, Mantle scoring.

Gil McDougald dunked a bunt toward first that Hodges picked up and held, without making a play, as Woodling crossed the plate.

Up stepped Martin, playing his first series as a regular since Gerry Coleman marched off to war. After looking at a ball, he picked Loes' second pitch into the seats about 365 feet away to break the game wide open with three more big runs.

AP Scribe Likes Texas Over Irish

By Will Grimsley

New York, (AP)—Proud Texans like to tell the story of how a riot broke out in the one of the pan handle towns and a fanger was dispatched to quell it.

"You don't mean," an outsider inquired incredulously, "you just sent one man to put down the uprising?"

"Why, sure," replied the Texan. "There was just one riot, wasn't there?"

I'll take more than one Texan to put down all the football riots in the Lone Star State this week, with Notre Dame at Texas, Georgia Tech at SMU, Kentucky at Texas A & M, Washington State at Baylor and LSU at Rice.

We bloodied our nose a bit last week (they should have called the Michigan game after the first quarter) but we still have a season's record of 67 hits against 21 misses for .762.

Another whiff: Texas over Notre Dame—The Fighting Irish are not yet the team of other years.

Wisconsin over Illinois—This is the Badgers' year in a nip-and-tuck rivalry. Illinois can't go to the Rose Bowl, Wisconsin can.

Georgia Tech over Southern Methodist—This could go either way but Tech is getting stronger as it goes along.

Tennessee over Duke—One of the South's traditional headlines. The Blue Devils probably favored, but a vote for the Vols.

Cornell over Navy—The Midshipmen now among the east's best but the Big Red was looking to this one when they lost to Colgate.

Michigan State over Oregon State—Perhaps the Spartans' toughest test. Too many horses on the nation's number one team.

Stanford over Michigan—Both teams let down after last week's major tests. The Indians are rolling.

Southern California over Army—The Trojans have too much for the bounce-back Cadets.

Maryland over Clemson—The Terrapins have had two close squeaks. Jack Scarbath may have to save another one.

Oklahoma over Pittsburgh—Billy Vessels leads the Sooners back to the winning path.

Odds Shift On Yanks To Triumph

New York, (AP)—Odds on the New York Yankees to win their fourth straight World Series shifted to two to one yesterday following a 7-1 defeat of the Brooklyn Dodgers in the second game of the post-season baseball classic.

Quote

The Yanks also were quoted at eight and one-half to five to win today's game—the first of three to be played at the Yankee Stadium. If the sixth and seventh games are necessary they will be played at Ebbets Field.

Cavaliers To Tangle With Bangor Rival

East Stroudsburg High School will attempt to run its undefeated record to three straight today, but a rugged Bangor eleven stands in the path of the purple and white clad grid machine, when the two arch rivals clash at Bangor's Memorial Park. The kickoff is scheduled for 8 p.m.

The Cavaliers will be at full strength for the long awaited battle, at least as far as the first

Brooklyn Hurler Suffers Fall In Dressing Room

By Will Grimsley

Brooklyn, (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers had nothing but praise for Vic Raschi and rebuke for themselves yesterday after losing the second game of the World Series to the New York Yankees.

"I was awfully wild," lamented good-looking young Carl Erskine, who was charged with the 7-1 defeat.

"I put the first man on base in each of the six innings I worked. I don't think I threw a single strike on a change-of-pace ball."

"On the one day I should have had control I couldn't hit a barn door. But we have days like that, and I hope I get another chance."

Manager Charley Dressen disclosed that Erskine had a locker room accident just before the game which may have contributed to his lack of effectiveness.

The lean right-hander fell off a small ladder while looking out of a window and reinjured an old football knee. He also banged his head.

"Carl sometimes gets deathly sick when he hits his knee like that," said Dressen. "I started to start Loes (Billy Loes, who relieved in the sixth), but Erskine told me he was okay, and he looked sharp in the warmup, so I started him."

"We probably couldn't have won no matter how well we played," said Jackie Robinson, the Dodgers' great Negro second baseman. "I've seen Vic Raschi before in other series, but he was never as sharp as he was yesterday."

"He had a wonderful change of pace and that's what killed us. He put the ball where he wanted it and he was very effective when he changed up. He really had us going."

Robinson said he had no play at the plate in the sixth inning when, with the bases full and none out, he tagged the Yankees' "Yogi" Berra and then threw to first to try to double Joe Collins on Collins' slow roller.

First baseman Gil Hodges missed the throw for an error to open the door for the big inning, climaxed by Billy Martin's home run.

"I just didn't get my glove on the ball, that's all," said Hodges. "It was tough, but you have those days, and we had it today. Tomorrow is another one."

Dressen reiterated he would start the veteran lefty, Preacher Roe, today. But on the fourth game he didn't know.

"Maybe Joe Black and maybe not. I'll tell tomorrow," he said.

Legion League To Bowl Today

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary League roll on the George N. Kemp Post alleys today. Schedule follows:

7 P. M.—Alleys one and two—Hot Spots vs. Twinkle Belles.

Alleys three and four—Easy Goers vs. Blue Jays.

8 P. M.—Alleys one and two—Woodpeckers vs. Jolly Junes.

Alleys three and four—Merry Makers vs. Poke Alongs.

Notes Of Series Interest

Brooklyn, (AP)—Pie Traynor, the old Pittsburgh third baseman who is one of the all-time greats at that position, is a World Series spectator and not the least surprised at the sparkling fielding of Brooklyn's Billy Cox.

Traynor discovered Cox at Harrisburg, Pa., in 1941 and sent him to the Pirates, who let the fine infielder get away. "He's one of the greatest glovemen I ever saw," says Traynor.

Before the second game, the Yankees' Casey Stengel paid high tribute to his current foes.

"Why should those guys be scared of us," he said of the Dodgers. "They're a seasoned club."

This figured to be the old men's World Series but Mickey Mantle and Billy Martin, a couple of New York Yankee baby-faced youngsters, are making gestures toward stealing the show.

Women Drivers To Crash Cars At Stroudsburg Speedway

Women drivers will have their innings at Stroudsburg Speedway on Sunday, when the fair sex takes part in one of two demolition races on the agenda. The demolition races will follow the feature attraction of Big Car racing, with some of the top names in the East taking part.

Time trials for the big cars are listed for 12:30 p. m., and the first of three qualifying heats is scheduled to get under way at 2 p. m.

Mabel Martin, East Stroudsburg, will be one of three women taking part in one of the demolition races. This driver hasn't had an accident in five years of driving, and last night stated, "I want to see how really bad I can drive."

First Time
Another entry in the women's demolition race will be Nancy Weikel, Ashland, Pa. This will be the first race of this type for either driver.

Mrs. Weikel said last night that she was a spectator at the last demolition race at Stroudsburg Speedway and now wants to try her hand at the stunt. She drove one of the demolition cars yesterday, strictly on a trial run.

The third entry in the demolition grind will be Evelyn McCarty, New Jersey's Elmdon Bomb Shell, who is a veteran campaigner on many tracks in the East.

A field of six will take part in the men's demolition race.

Approximately 40 big cars will take part in the feature events, which proved so popular last week on the same track.

"Shorty" Warren, cowboy radio and recording star, will known in the Newark, Paterson, Jersey City area, will present plenty of music and songs when an actual race isn't taking place.

Warren and his group will begin playing at 12 noon and continue through the entire program, when an opportunity permits.

PIAA Lists Cage Official Clinics

Harrisburg, (AP)—The Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association yesterday scheduled nine basketball rules and officiating clinics for PIAA officials throughout the state.

In Charge
Dr. Frank P. Maguire, East Stroudsburg, will direct the clinics and Mark N. Funk, Executive Director of the Association, will explain regulation changes.

Meetings are listed for Palmerton on Wednesday, October 22, and Scranton on Thursday, October 23.

Flory Offers Services In Chest Drive

As a public service, Jesse R. S. Flory, past president of the Monroe County Community Chest and Council, has offered to address clubs, organizations and industrial plants throughout the county on the current Chest campaign.

Mr. Flory is being assisted in this portion of the Chest's publicity drive by others in the organization.

Clubs or other organizations wishing to ask a Chest official or Mr. Flory to address their group may make complete arrangements for such an appearance by calling the Community Chest office at Stroudsburg 2231.

Furniture Care

Good chrome furniture requires a minimum of upkeep. To clean, use a soft cloth, dampened in a mixture of alcohol and whiting, then a dry cloth. Do not use gritty compounds that may scratch the finish.

Employers Cooperate With Chest

All county residents who have the opportunity to contribute to the Community Chest through their places of employment are urged to do so, Miss Ethel West, secretary of the Chest said last night.

Contributions made through these channels will lessen the load on Chest workers during the two-hour "porchlight" campaign in residential areas.

This "porchlight" drive will be conducted between the hours of 7 to 9 p. m. on Wednesday, Oct. 8, Miss West said.

Since both the Industrial and Trade Division drives on behalf of the Monroe County Community Chest and Council are now underway, workers in factories and employees of business throughout the county will find it easy to make their contributions through their regular place of business.

The Community Chest office in Stroudsburg emphasizes that making contributions through this channel will make it considerably easier to finish up the campaign quickly since many of the workers and their families will not be in their homes on the night of the residential drive.

The first broadcast of election results took place in 1920 when station KDKA reported the Harding-Cox presidential results.
